

Company: Lab Smarts

Project: Online Education Platform for Next Generation Laboratory Students and Professionals

Author: Samantha Cano

Overview: Lab Smarts is a Cambridge, MA based online education platform focused on providing the next generation of laboratory students and professionals with the skills they need to succeed in their education and careers. Lab Smarts' mission is to collaborate with educational institutions and laboratory professionals to create dynamic and exciting online education content to help students achieve their educational and professional goals. Our vision is for laboratory education to be more accessible to everyone, everywhere.